Is Class Government Doomed?

Is class government on its way out?

Such might be the case as a proposed amendment is headed for the ASBYU Executive Council meeting today which would bring sudden doom to class officers (save the freshman class), along with eliminating AMS and modifying AWS to a council position.

This move would be a step toward more centralized student government. Five years ago the student senate was eliminated. Then the removal of the assembly three years ago was the next step toward centralized power. Now class government, AMS and AWS are on the brink of dissolving themselves.

According to Paul Genho, executive assistant to ASBYU President Grant Richards, the proposal would eliminate AMS, change AWS to a council position equal in power to the other vice presidents, remove all class government except the freshman class, and create a new vice president spot to work with clubs.

With this campaign underway to eliminate class government, the question arises: will the move go unopposed? Ken Murdock, junior class president, is expected to lead the opposing force—but his supporters may be few in number.

Most of the members of the Executive Council appear to be in favor of the change, leaving class government hanging by a thread. Several years ago it was the dominating force in student government. Just last year the Sophomore Class sponsored "American Week," which was one of the highlights of the year.

But today class officers are fighting for their lives to hold their offices.

What will be the effect of this change on the future roles these officers will have in student government? It won't be complimentary, for certain. They will not only have lost their jobs, but their offices as well. It's kind of like the captain who had to desert his ship in the face of his enemy.

Other questions can be asked concerning the nature of this change. Has class government really failed—and if it has, is it a result of apathy on the part of students to get involved in class activities? Will the change eliminate the symptom or the cause of the problem?

It is a well-known fact that class officers have struggled in recent years with voter turnouts at the polls, adding to the dilemma of participation in student government.

One student officer says that the new amendment would make a more efficient organization. Certainly it would be a help for the Executive Council, but it would give them unprecedented power in directing the activities of students at BYU.

The only checks on student government which would remain, if the change occurs, would be the student supreme court, the DAILY UNIVERSE and the Administration.

Students interested in the outcome of this proposed change are encouraged to get involved and voice their opinions on the matter. The UNIVERSE will gladly carry student comments (pro and con) in its letters column.

Pungently Polemic

Stacked Fine

John Paxman

Last week, I tripped into the Library and was unceremoniously floored for I had thought that a library was a place of study. It was as if someone had pulled the never present omnipresent rug right out from underneath my feet. Recovering my former position, I mended through the stacks where I encountered three students who were conversing periodically.

PERIODICAL INDEX

"I am of the opinion that it's about time to take a look at this man so that we establish a dialogue as to whether or not the playboy be scientifically monitored as it was placed in the journal as he is becoming mad."

The second quickly retorted, "Chemically, I think it more important that we establish a dialogue as to whether or not the playboy bequire in an effort to increase his fortune."

"But you are disregarding something," replied the third. "On Saturday evening, a national observer, standing near the post, stated that this was true. He did it all to get a better home and garden."

"As I walked away, I overheard one of them say over and over: 'But you to insinuate that he was a gardener is a real malicious dig.'"

NO KNOWLEDGE

But I had not entered the library desiring to listen to others; I had because I had heard that there was a slight chance that I might have a book I needed—"An Expose of Ignorance" authored by A. Moron.

The librarian told me that she had never heard of it, then inquired "Does it have to do with library science?"

"Probably."

"Well, I wouldn't know a thing about that."

"Obviously," I quipped. "But wouldn't it have a Dewey call number assigned to it?"

"I don't know."

"Where might I go to find out?"

HIGHER KNOWLEDGE

As she pointed her finger skyward, I noticed that the Dewey was, from heaven, gently distilling. I left hurriedly as she must have something about an enlightening revelation.

I must have lost my mind for a moment for I walked right into Pioneer and Indian Memorial Room. The attendant at the desk stop me and asked what I was going to do. I was hard pressed for an answer, but took too well on extemporaneous subjects—but replied, "I'm going to study."

"I'm sorry," she said, "we don't allow students to just study by themselves. You'll have to go elsewhere."

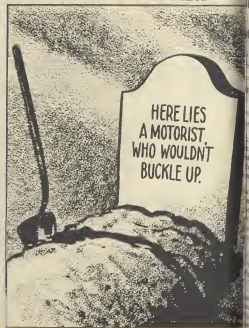

"If that's the index of this library, I'm leaving!" But on the way out I recanted and checked out a book.

A FINE IDEA

One month later, I received a notice from the Library. Upon opening it, I noticed that it said: "Due On Orders As You Wish." Then I thought, "I thought at the time that that was a fine idea; and it was! I had fined two dollars for not returning the book."

As a result, I found out that not only are the books stacked, but the cards are also.

LOST TABLE

Editor:

I am a graduate student at the BYU having completed my undergraduate studies at another institution. Prior to enrolling at the BYU I had heard all the fine reports about this church-owned institution and its high academic and HONOR policies.

Needless to say I was a bit disappointed when someone mistook my three foot square walnut rimmed table top with a two foot square walnut and birch chess board in the middle for a piece of scrap wood and removed it sight unseen from a workbench at the hobby center.

It's not just the $25 put out for wood, but the fact that I was going to present it to my wife for our wedding anniversary and had put some 20 hours into labor, add somewhat to its sentimental value.

The captain of Security has assured me that the value plus labor on this table exceed the $40 minimum constituting grand larceny. Perhaps the guilty party involved would like to refer to the Utah Code Annotated and read the penalty for grand larceny. Further, it is my understanding the BYU has expulsion policies for similar acts.

If the table is not returned may this letter serve as public notice to its readers that a $10 reward will be offered for the return of the table or the apprehension of the party involved. Yes, I would like it back. In the meantime I would like to thank Security, the administration, the housing office, and the Wilkinson Center for their efforts to return the table.

If the table fails to return, may the guilty party enjoy our anniversary . . .

Sincerely
Robert W. Robinson

PARKING SHORTAGE

Editor:

I note in the February 7 issue of the UNIVERSE, that Sven Nielsen has disclosed the erection of another building on one of the parking lots. What happens when we have a complete collection of the most beautiful buildings on any campus, (which is what it appears to be), and still no parking lot? What will the security officers do? Walk throughout the buildings and give tickets to illegally seated students?

I think that we as a school, should show more concern for our security force, and for the job they do. If funds could be allocated for a few lots for student cars and some expansion and improvement of the present arrangement for parking, then the "boys in blue" would be pleased.

Having new buildings is wonderful and will attract more students with more cars. These new buildings do that . . . the one's built on the existing inadequate parking lots. Remember, if the students have to park off-campus, due to lack of space, the town police will get the revenue and experience from issued tickets. Let's look after our own, build parking lots for our security force to patrol.

Incidentally, there would also be more room for you and me to put our cars when we need a place. Have you ever had your attention drawn to the parking race at BYU, Glenn?

Police Arrest Three

Three former BYU students were arrested last week in Provo, and charged with grand larceny before the Justice of the Peace at Park City.

A preliminary hearing has not yet been set for the three—Robert Chris Otterson, 18; Mallory Lee Day, 18; and James A. Kennicott, also 18.

The three were interviewed by LaVar C. Rockwood, assistant dean of students over the weekend. "They have been suspended from BYU," said Dean Rockwood on Monday.

The three former students are charged with stealing six cars at Park City. Another preliminary hearing, however, has been set by Provo City Court on another charge against Day—the illegal possession of a marijuana pipe.

"While such a charge requires legal proof," said Provo City Judge J. Gordon Knudsen, "under a Utah statute, the possession of a pipe which has been used to smoke marijuana is a felony."

Nixon To Visit West Berlin

ORISCAINE, Fla.—President Nixon stood Monday on visiting West Germany's upcoming European face of mounting the holding of a special election for West Germany's Communist-surrogate metropolis.

White House said Monday supports a declaration of the United States, Great Britain and France in Bonn that there is no ground for talks with East Germany are justification.

Conditions would be in the time Nixon plans West Berlin, but he would not be in Bonn. No barriers have been set up against aerial access to Berlin.

Because of closing up his office, the White House said and taking off for Berlin, Nixon got out directives to Cabinet officers and other advisors calling for recommendations on whether to put farm workers under the Taft-Hartley Act, what should be done about family planning and the population problem, the best way to assure the vote to 18-year-olds, and what can be done about a prompt start on improving the federal tax system.

NIXON RELAXES

The President flew to Florida from Washington Friday for his first period of mixing relaxation and presidential business at his home off Miami.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President probably would return to Key Biscayne before heading for Europe Feb. 23.

Nixon had Secretary of State William F. Rogers and the presidential assistant on national security affairs, Henry A. Kissinger, in Florida with him.

The East German restrictions on surface travel into Berlin are effective next Saturday. Ziegler told newsmen there was plenty of precedent for West German elections in Berlin. They were held there in 1954, 1959, and 1964.

The ground travel ban imposed by East Germany affects more than 1,000 delegates to the West German Assembly. They are slated to pick a president in West Berlin March 5 to succeed retiring Heinrich Lübke.

NOPRESSURE

In another action from the Florida White House, text of a memorandum involving the trans-Pacific air line routes was released with the apparent objective of isolating Nixon from possible pressure and lobbying.

The memo said Nixon personally will not receive any communications from any source on the trans-Pacific case other than from his secretary of state, secretary of defense, or other advisors on foreign affairs and national security. The controversial route awards were made during the Johnson administration. Nixon held them up for review.

Among new directives was an order to the secretary of the treasury to assess proposals that the government share part of the money it collects from income taxes with state and local governments.

A directive to science advisor Lee A. DuBridge called for an evaluation of a national accelerator laboratory project and proposals for its immediate and substantial funding.

courtroom, Russo pointed to Shaw as the man called Bertrand.

The meeting, Russo said, took place in Ferrie's New Orleans apartment some three months before Kennedy was shot to death Nov. 22, 1963 in Dallas. The Warren Commission in its official investigation concluded that Oswald alone was the assassin.

Russo said the three talked about alibis. He said Shaw talked of "going to the coast." Russo identified both Oswald and Ferrie from photographs put into evidence by the prosecution.

The witness said when he first met Oswald at Ferrie's apartment, Oswald had "light whiskers... perhaps three or four days' growth." He said the first time he saw Oswald, introduced as "Ferrie's roommate," Oswald was cleaning or polishing a rifle with a telescopic sight. Handed a rifle by the prosecution, Russo said it was similar to the one Oswald had.

Russo testified that a few days after the apartment meeting, he visited Ferrie again and Oswald was there. "He was leaving town, had his stuff all packed up," Ferrie said, or Oswald said, or it was mentioned that Oswald was going to Houston," Russo said.

Public Gives 'Slick' Cures

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California officials have received hundreds of bizarre suggestions for sopping up the Santa Barbara Channel oil slick—ranging from giant vacuum cleaners to outlandish.

The old-fashioned technique of raking up the goo with straw "seems to be doing a real good job," said Edward N. Gladish, assistant director of the state conservation department.

About 300 proposals came in letters and telegrams to Gov. Ronald Reagan's office. Gladish estimated 75 or more a day have come to the conservation department. The oil seepage was halted Saturday, 12 days after it started.

Someone suggested using cotton from Sacramento Valley, Gladish said. Another proposed spreading oatmeal on the beach.

Communists May Start Offensive Next Week

SAIGON (AP)—Fresh indications developed Monday that the Communist command may be getting ready to start its long delayed winter-spring offensive, perhaps tied to the Tet lunar new year holidays coming up next week.

U.S. intelligence reports disclosed the Viet Cong's 5th Division is moving from its Cambodian border bases to the jungled War Zone D and its vanguard is believed to be less than 30 miles northeast of Saigon.

Two battalions of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division sped in fleets of helicopters to engage and if possible destroy these leading units. American officers considered three other enemy divisions, still based in the Cambodian border area, would go into action in coordination with the 5th if it got through to Saigon.

ARMS TURNED UP

Tons of enemy arms and munitions are being turned up in caches ranging from 15 to 60 miles from the capital.

The government commander of the northernmost 1st Corps area, Lt. Gen. Huong Xuan Lam, said he expects Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, to become a target of terrorism, sabotage, rocket and mortar attacks by depleted enemy units in that vicinity.

"We have destroyed their capacity to hit Da Nang with a major ground attack," Lam said in an interview with Associated Press correspondent Richard H. Pyle. The general, 42, scorned any suggestion that the Viet Cong would observe the cease-fire they have proclaimed for Feb. 15-22 for Tet.

TET OFFENSIVE?

"The Communists are always liars," he said.

It was during the enemy-announced Tet truce last year that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese launched their biggest offensive of the war, striking at more than 120 cities, towns and villages up and down the country.

As for Saigon, one intelligence theory suggests North Vietnamese troops would engage U.S. units in distant sectors to keep them occupied while the Viet Cong pushed hard against the city itself.

GROUND FIGHTING MINOR

The theory is that having homegrown guerrillas again in the capital, even though their units now include substantial numbers of North Vietnamese, would give leverage to the Hanoi and Viet Cong delegations in the Paris peace talks.

Ground fighting remained scattered and minor. Some enemy kills were made by helicopter gunships and artillery.

Witness Testifies Of Assassination Plan

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Witness Perry Russo, a book salesman with a political science degree, Monday he heard Clay L. Harvey Oswald and Lee Harvey Oswald talk in 1963 about the assassination of President Kennedy by a first diversionary stage was to be by air. Russo told the 12-man jury Feb. 5, on a charge of conspiracy to assassinate Kennedy, that on Sept. 27, a dark-haired man who weighs 170, told of meeting in September 1963 in New Orleans, Oswald and David Ferrie, a former airline pilot, in a meeting against Shaw accompanied with the two, to kill the President.

Russo says his defendant told Oswald or Ferrie.

In repeating testimony he gave at a 1967 hearing after "brushed" his memory, he was using the name Bertrand.

IN THE HOUSTON TRIAL, Ferrie said he was going to Houston," Russo said.

The image orthicon tube is the backbone of modern television technology.

WHERE YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR CORPORATE ECONOMIC GROWTH

■ The most common measure of corporate economic growth is earnings. Though it is simple enough to set an objective of growth in earnings, achievement requires dedication, hard work, imagination and carefully thought-out plans.

■ Normally such growth stems from certain basic procedures: increased out-put of traditional product lines; research and development programs; diversification; or acquisition or merger. The larger the company, the more complex the pattern for growth becomes. In the case of Jersey Standard, our international scope adds to the complexity. Accordingly, earnings growth has resulted from a mix of the above basic procedures.

■ Under our decentralized system of management, procedures followed by affiliates world-wide in achieving earnings growth are tailored to fit local patterns. Affiliate management has latitude and authority to respond to local conditions and the head quarters office provides regional coordination.

■ This system implements our objective of being a flexible, aggressive enterprise. It recognizes the importance of a proper blend of both short and long-term investments. It permits a balanced commitment of money and manpower. And it assures adaptation to the various social and political environments in which we operate.

■ Our plans for growth in earnings, however, are only as good as the people who develop and implement them. For Jersey Standard to grow, we must have personnel of the highest caliber—and a forward-looking aggressive, management team.

■ Isn't something like this really what you've been preparing for?

■ Make it a point to see the Jersey Standard representatives when they visit your campus—and talk over the various management opportunities in our world-wide family of companies.

■ Jersey representatives will be here on February 25

Humanities, A129 Jesse Knight
Bldg., by Saturday, Feb. 15.

Entries will be competing for $500 in prize money, which will probably be divided with $250 for first place, $125 for second, $75 for third, and $50 for fourth.

Depending on the quality of the undergraduates enrolled for at least 10 credit hours at BYU and to graduate students carrying at least eight hours.

Stories, which may be on any theme and are to be from 2,500 to 8,000 words in length, must be original and unpublished. In the past, winning stories have been published in WYE Magazine.

Last year's first-place story, "A Novitiate for Hu Chan," was written by Robert J. Morris.

Japanese Deadline Extended

Signup deadline for the Summer Program in Japan has been extended to Mar. 15.

The announcement was made by Dr. Lee W. Farnsworth, the director of the program, who just returned from a five-week research visit to Tokyo.

Along with general travel, a student can earn up to eight semester hours of credit during classes in Japan.

Dr. Farnsworth stated that excellent accommodations and programs have already been planned. He urged students to sign up as soon as possible.

He further explained, "I was so impressed with Japan and the value it could be to a student. Japan is one of the most interesting countries in the world, combining the hustle and excitement of a modern nation with the traditional customs and culture of an ancient civilization."

Athletes' Feats . . .

FAIRY TALES

By Roger Gillespie

A rather amazing streak was kept intact this last weekend by the Cougars' 73-67 victory over Utah. In the seven year history of the Western Athletic Conference, Utah has never defeated BYU in basketball in the Smith Fieldhouse.

But perhaps the really amazing thing about this record is the fact that it is so seldom talked about. The Salt Lake papers, it seems, take particular delight in patting Utah coach Jack Gardner on the back for getting so much mileage out of supposedly inferior material. This wouldn't be so bad, because Gardner is a fine basketball coach, but in the same breath Stan Watts is condemned for not having a better record with the fine material available to him.

It is time this myth be exploded. There would be many ways to refute this backhanded slur on Coach Watts, but the record between the two schools shouts over the loudest.

Take, for example, the victory bell established by Blue Key ten years ago as a symbol of basketball supremacy between BYU and Utah. The bell is housed in a prominent place on the campus of the school which has the highest combined score in the two games played during the season. For the past six years the bell has not moved from its perch in the Wilkinson Center.

Although the present record between the two schools stands almost identical (BYU leads 57-55), for the past seven years the record has been totally lopsided. The Cougars, for example, hold an impressive 10-3 lead over the Utes during this period and except for two identical 91-89 Utah wins, one in 68 and the other in 64, the Cats would hold an 11 game winning streak over the Redskins.

This streak is even more amazing when the rivalry itself is taken into account. As those who were in the Fieldhouse on Saturday will attest, there is almost a magnetic tension present during a Cougar-Redskin basketball game. Players feel it probably more than do the fans. This was undoubtedly one of the contributing factors to the low shooting percentages of both teams. The floor play was shoddy too, as the Cougars were guilty of 16 turnovers and the Utes close behind with 15.

COUGARS BETTER

But even though the Cats have had by far the better of it over the past several seasons, the games themselves have, with few exceptions, hung in the balance until the final few seconds.

I remember, for example, my first Utah game during the winter of 1964. The Utes were ahead by a couple with only a minute to go in the game. But during that final minute Mike Gardner, a spark plug guard, went to the foul line six times and sank all six as the Cougars pulled out a three point victory. Or how 'bout the one in Salt Lake in 1967 when Cougar all-American guard Dick Nemelka sank a jumper at the buzzer to beat the Utes in Salt Lake 61-60.

When the scores of these two games themselves are examined, it is amazing that two teams could play so evenly for so many years. Yet when the chips are down, it seems that the Cats have been able to pull it out. The big exception to this was the game last year at Utah. The Cougars had the lead with seconds left but a bad inbound pass gave the Utes the tie and then a long jumper by Joe English gave the Redskins the game at the buzzer.

Saturdays' game was not exactly a showcase of basketball polish but those who prefer excitement to polish were not at all disappointed.

Pressure, it seems, is always a factor in these barnburners as the stats of Saturday's game indicate. The two teams put on as poor a shooting exhibition as has been seen in the Fieldhouse this year as the Cougars could hit on only 42 per cent of their shots from the field and the Utes were even worse with 24 bingos on 72 shots for a cold 33 per cent. Mike Newlin, the Utes' star guard, was the head eskimo as he converted on only seven of 27 shots.

The Cougars now head to Salt Lake with a huge psychological advantage. Their reasoning is that if they were able to beat them while still playing so poorly they can beat them again with a good game even though it is in Salt Lake. If the Cats still have ideas about the WAC title, the game in Salt Lake is a must.

GILLESPIE GOAT

Saturday also found another BYU-Utah rivalry renewed. It has become tradition for the staff of the Daily Universe to play the staff of the Utah Daily Chronicle in a basketball game just prior to the varsity contest. Unfortunately the results of this game weren't as pleasant as the other one. We were trailing by only one point with something like six seconds to go. Your's truly got a pass at the top of the key and had an left the script at home and the ball bounced around the rim and out. "Oh well," I muttered to myself as we walked off the court, "you can't be good at everything. . . ."

11 cures for student unrest.

The brooding palace and beehive tombs of Mycenae. The royal apartments of the Sun King Tutankhamen's treasure. The Temple of Venus at Balbek. The Labyrinth on Crete. The teeming bazaars of Cairo. The Blarney Stone. Archaeologists who tell you more about a ruin than just who ruined it.

That's just a small sample of what's included in Olympic's 11 Student Tours. We figured that students are a lot more adventurous and curious than most travelers. So we weren't afraid to be a little far out when we planned our itineraries.

But of course we didn't neglect any of the more down-to-earth details. Like deluxe or first-class hotels throughout. Deposit dates that let right into your spring or summer vacation. From 15 to 60 days. And, of course, Olympic's special student prices.

Three dual meets are on tap for the BYU swim team this week beginning Thursday at 8 p.m. when the Cougars host the University of Washington.

Friday BYU will travel to Tempe, Ariz. for a dual with Arizona State and on to Tucson Saturday to meet the University of Arizona Wildcats.

The Cougars put four marks in the win column last week with scores over New Mexico (79-34), and outscored Weber State, Idaho State, and New Mexico State in a quadrangular meet on Saturday.

'Mural Skiers Seek Trophies

By Mike Twitty
Asst. Sports Editor

Clear skies and warm weather may bring thoughts of spring but definitely not an end to skiing.

Those interested in more than the thrill of the slopes can still enter the Intramural Ski Meet in conjunction with the 1969 Winter Carnival.

Competition will be at Sundance Thursday and Friday at 1:30 p.m. Slalom skiing will be featured Thursday with the downhill races Friday.

CLASSIFICATIONS

The classification system for skiers is as follows:

Class A Elite—members of the ski team.

Class A—Those who have won a class B or above race at BYU or in any other skiing competition, those who have never raced but whose skiing ability dictates that they belong in this group.

Class B—Those skiers who have the skill to do a stem-christy and above.

Class C—those skiers whose ability ranges between the snow plow and the stem turn. Parallel skiers will be disqualified if they enter this race.

First and second place winners in each class division will be given a trophy. Third place of each division will receive a certificate.

A $1 deposit will be required of each participant registering for the meet. This is for the number he will be issued and will be returned after he finishes his event.

The only fee will be that every skier will be requested to buy his own lift pass.

Men and women may enter at the Intramural Office, 112 Richard P.E. Bldg., or at Sundance on the day of the competition.

However, groups and organizations that would like points to count toward the Supremacy Trophy given at the end of the year must have applications submitted to the Intramural Office by Wednesday, Feb. 12, at noon.

BYU Soccermen Looking Forward To Another Successful Campaign

by Jim Hunt
Universe Sports Writer

Coaches Dan Madsen and Bill Forrest look forward to fielding soccer teams this spring that will be almost identical with last fall's highly successful squads. Both are planning busy schedules for their teams.

BYU "A," 8-0 overall and 6-0 in league play, faces a rough slate that will include the Sun Devil Soccer Tournament and, if arrangements are successfully concluded, a game with the Rocky Mountain Conference champion. That league includes Wyoming, Colorado State and Air Force among its members.

Idaho State figures to become the "B" team's first out-of-league intercollegiate competition. ISU has dropped three close decisions to BYU "A" in the last two years, and should give the "B" team a battle. BYU "B" is 3-3 this year, including a loss to BYU "A."

In addition, both squads are looking forward to contests with old rivals from the Salt Lake league, which included the BYU teams until the formation of the collegiate league. The Incas, back on top after losing the championship last year, are especially anxious to meet BYU "A."

Two years ago, the Incas suffered their only loss against the Y. This year it is BYU that is undefeated.

When the teams move outside again depends mainly on the weather. The players have kept in shape with rugged matches in the west annex of the Smith Fieldhouse, and they hope to move onto some grass before the middle of March.

OPERA

Ferrari Goes Mexican

By Meredith Embry
Universe Staff Writer

War II veteran, occasional singer, author of books and folk ballads from every corner in the world—does this man have an opera star?

Not necessarily. Do. Lazzaro Ferrari was recently in a series of auditions and interviews at BYU. Now back in Mexico, Ferrari will continue to participate in concert for the lack of Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

In Grada, Italy, a small community near Brescia, Ferrari displayed an aptitude for opera. At sixteen, he travelled to where he studied under the composer Grandini.

His curriculum of studies in opera, literature and political science were continued at the University of Milan and University of Paris. In Milan, he belonged to the Opera of La Scala.

Now in Paris studying at the Conservatory, he sang with the Paris Opera in addition to tours in Sweden, England, Spain, Russia and Japan, Lazzaro Ferrari performed before Pope Pius XII and sang with such stars as Maria Callas, Renata Tebaldi, Elizabeth Schwarzkopf, Mario del Monaco and Ana Maria Olaria.

He has sung under the baton of such masters Toscanini, de Sabata, Warchewicz, A. Wolf and Pierre Derveaux. He was the recipient of the Tchaikovsky Medal and won the First International Prize in a competition in Milan.

In addition to his opera achievements, Lazzaro Ferrari has written two books and co-authored a third. He speaks Italian, Spanish, French, Greek, German and Russian and has been in twenty-two movies, including a film with Brigitte Bardot. He has also made seventy-four records.

The repertoire of Lazzaro Ferrari includes over 3,000 selections. By critics he has been described as a modern Caruso.

Lazzaro Ferrari joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints last July in Ecuador. He has been in South America for two years presenting concerts and occasionally singing on television.

Good Complexion Vs. Make Up

By Jill Lebovitz
Universe Staff Writer

A good complexion is many times more important than a good job.

Whether how adept you are at makeup, the major reason in looking lovely is by a well-cared-for skin.

Use the proper amount of skin cream, eat the right foods, keeping the skin clean is an important reason.

Here are some useful guides for skin will and fade away if left with layer upon layer of yesterday's "face."

Your skin must be thoroughly cleansed. Make it a nightly ritual to remove every trace of makeup.

Follow with your particular program for complexion care.

For removing makeup on unblemished skin, simply apply baby oil. Remove with a soft old towel saved for this purpose.

A cleanser for skin that tends to break out easily is "M.O." (a combination of milk of magnesia and mineral oil available in drug stores). It will remove makeup effectively as a prelude to your washing-up program.

If blemishes tend to show through makeup, cover spots with baby powder before applying base.

This babying technique helps dry up spots and temporarily conceals them.

Bassooning pays off, or at least for Tonia Marcune, BYU junior majoring in Music Education.

Miss Marcune flew home a few weeks ago to participate in the Las Vegas, Nev., Youth Scholarship Competition. Her fine bassoon playing paid off. Tonia was awarded first prize in the form of a $250 scholarship.

Tonia is known at BYU for her many musical activities. She is currently studying on scholarship and plays first bassoon in both the Symphony Orchestra and the Symphonic Band.

BYU Drama...

Student TV Can Bring Credit

Interested students may participate in a two-week television drama workshop at BYU, according to Brent C. Dixon, supervisor for Special Courses and Conferences.

The workshop will be conducted by John Dawson, director of the TV series "Love of Life," who will be at BYU today through Friday, Feb. 21.

One semester hour of credit will be given to those attending the daily sessions from noon to 2 p.m. in A-244 Harris Fine Arts Center. Tuition for the course is $27 and credit will be received for either Communications 690 or Speech and Dramatic Arts 674.

Participants (cast and directors) will be by invitation. The first hour will be spent in presenting two 12-minute scripts.

The workshop is the joint project of the BYU Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts and Broadcast Services.

Date, Mate, Decorate The Computer Way

New York (NAPS)—What won't today's computer do? Only yesterday it was considered miraculous because it was merely an indispensable tool of business, industry, government and the military. The fact that it could analyze sales, schedule production and compile financial statements was thought to be the ultimate. But that was only yesterday. The ultra up-to-date "mechanical brain" is capable of much more.

With equal facility "The Brain" is now encompassing the social scene. It helps compatible people find each other, date and mate. Then it decorates their brand new homes to match their personalities!

PSYCHOLOGIST HELPS

The very latest thing on the computerized scene is a really personalized, computerized, decorating service, offered by The Flintkote Company, manufacturer of vinyl flooring. It utilizes the services of the world's most powerful IBM computer—the 360—in combination with a distinguished panel of the country's leading decorators. In addition, a psychologist is employed.

The 360 has been crammed with an impressive wealth of knowledge concerning the home decorating arts. All that's left to do is feed it with the answers to the exactly right question—and Flintkote's have been compiled to encompass both the problem room and the owner.

In addition to the obvious, "Which room is involved... What's its size?... What colors do you like?" it probes into the subtle and psychological with, "Which attitude do you like most in yourself?... What kind of people annoy you most? The computer also scrutinizes individual tastes in food, art, hobbies and entertainment.

The questionnaire is free from Flintkote, E. Rutherford, N.J., or its retail outlets across the country.

Quaker Sharpens Spiritual Spectrum

What is a 46-year-old, Quaker doing at BYU?

A lot. And he loves it, too. Rick Hazelett, transfer student from University of Texas at Austin says, "I came to BYU one day last spring and immediately fell in love with the place. I suspect that it is the world's most concentrated collection of beautiful girls, worthy young men, and dedicated staff. I look to see the Latter-day Saints running the USA for a generation or more."

A graduate student in history of religion with an M.A. from Texas, Hazelett recently completed a

RICHARD HAZELETT

279-page thesis entitled "Happiness: Its Metaphysics, Logic, Ethics and Natural Theology."

"I am very much impressed with the empirical theology of the Latter-day Saints. It broadly parallels some independent conclusions I had struggled decades to reach."

Regarding the similarities of Quaker religion to Mormonism, Hazelett remarked, "There is no paid clergy; individuals take the initiative in all religious matters, the clerk of a meeting is not much more than just that."

East German Etiquette...

Army Sees Refinement

New York—(Special)—East German soldiers henceforward will be guided by a book of etiquette entitled "Refined or Not So Refined", published by the East German Military Publishing House.

The volume gives tips about kissing and also cautions soldiers on the way their hair should be cut, according to an article in the September issue of "Atlas" translated from "The Standard" of Dares Salaam.

The book gives a general outline on how to address people, how to dress correctly, how to behave toward girls and women and how to maneuver one's self in a restaurant or while travelling. There are also sections on conversation, writing letters, drinking and gifts.

Recalling the days of Britain's Duke of Wellington, when army officers carried umbrellas—even on duty—the book says this custom would look very odd today.

Money Back Guarantee

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirement, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency combines rates AND comprehension, not speed alone.

Here are some comments from typical students:

Robert Driscoll, Student

This course has given me time to enjoy all of the books I have wanted to read for so long.

Ray C. Jolly, Professor

Reading Dynamically has already proved a substantial help in covering material that I need to use in teaching. It has also made it possible for me to do some reading outside of my professional field—something I have not done in years because of lack of time.

William Moore, Executive

This course has added new dimensions of enjoyment and information to a busy schedule. I would recommend it particularly for the High School or College student. It teaches planned study and comprehension. It is valuable for anyone determined to put forth the effort.

Scott Moesinger, Student

I'm thoroughly pleased with the course. Last week I read six books on chemistry with better understanding than I've ever had in previous years of study.
